

ABORIGINE WALL ART, AUSTRALIA (P2)

Group 1:

Question 1:

Who are the Aborigines?

- a) Descendants of Australia's first people
- b) Settlers who came by ship
- c) Artists who paint on walls and tree bark
- d) People who took care of the earth

Question 2:

How old are some of the Aboriginal paintings?

- a) One hundred years old
- b) Fifty thousand years old
- c) One thousand years old
- d) Thirty thousand years old

Question 3:

What do many Aboriginal paintings depict?

- a) Stories of settlers taking their land
- b) Stories of their love for the land
- c) Stories of their artistic skills
- d) Stories of their ancestors' inventions

Question 4:

What do more recent Aboriginal paintings depict?

- a) Settlers coming by ship
- b) Stories of their ancestors' achievements
- c) Stories of their cultural traditions
- d) Settlers taking their land

Question 5:

How do Aborigines continue to tell their stories today?

- a) Through music and dance
- b) Through written books
- c) Through wall and tree-bark paintings
- d) Through oral storytelling

Group 2:

Question 1:

Who are the Aborigines?

Question 2:

How old are some of the Aboriginal paintings?

Question 3:

What do many Aboriginal paintings depict?

Question 4:

What do more recent Aboriginal paintings depict?

Question 5:

How do Aborigines continue to tell their stories today?

Group 1 and 2:

Research different forms of Aboriginal art, such as rock paintings, bark paintings, and contemporary art.