ACTIVITY 2: Consequences.

Zero conditional

We use zero conditional sentences to talk about situations that always happen or facts that are always true.

I bring a bag with me when I go shopping.

How do you feel if someone copies your work?

if clause	if / when + Simple present
Result clause	Simple present

First conditional

We use first conditional sentences to talk about situations that we think are possible and probable.

What will happen if I don't pass the exam?

If I see Hannah, I might ask her about the letter.

if clause	if + simple present
Result clause	will / won't / might + infinitive without to

Second conditional

We use second conditional sentences to talk about situations that aren't true now or that we don't think will happen.

If I could play the guitar, I'd start a band.*

Would you give money to charity if you became rich?*

if clause	if + simple past
Result clause	would / wouldn't + infinitive without to

Tip Sometimes we only use either a condition clause or a result clause.

Imagine if everyone had enough food to eat.

Would you ever steal money from someone?*

Choose the correct words to complete the sentences.

1. If I can't sleep tonight, I listen / 'll listen to music.
