

News story

Yesterday in California a girl was swimming in the sea when she saw a shark. She started to shout and swam quickly to the beach. When she got out of the water her friends were laughing at her. She looked back and saw a child on a small boat that looked like a shark.

