Now I live in England, but I've lived and worked in several countries. I think my favourite were probably Japan and Mexico, mainly because of the food and because of the weather. As you know, the weather in England is often very cold, very grey and quite wet. In Mexico it's much _____ the skies were much _____ and there was less rain there, so it was lovely. And that was most of the year even in winter. Japan was lovely, also. It got more humid than Mexico in the summer and _____ than Mexico in the winter, but it was still very, very sunny there – _____ than in England. The food ... well, I know some people eat to live, but I don't; I live to eat. I love my food, so Japan and Mexico were both wonderful countries for me. I know the food in Britain is maybe _____ than in other countries, because we've got so many different types of cooking here, with all of our Indian restaurants, Chinese, Thai, Italian... the list is endless. But Mexican food was definitely _____ food I've had, so that even on fruit we often had chilli. Japanese food – this was probably _____ food and the most delicious, and I became a bit of an addict to sushi by the end of my time there.

Language in the countries ... for me Spanish was _____ – that's the language of Mexico – because I'd studied it at university before, and it's more similar to English. Japanese was extremely difficult – _____ language I've ever come across. And the more I learned, the more difficult it seemed to get.

So, overall, choosing between Mexico, England and Japan, I think Mexico is my favourite. It's the _____ country, and the weather is beautiful. It's the sunniest and hottest country, and it has beautiful beaches. So if I chose, I'd live there.
