

The words of life

In the garden of existence, life blooms like a vibrant rose, Each day a chapter, a river where endless stories flow. Time, a silent thief, steals moments like whispers in the breeze, Dreams, like stars, paint the canvas of our wishes with ease.

Love, a symphony of hearts, harmonizes like a songbird's tune, Hope, a beacon, illuminates the night like the silvery moon. Challenges, like storms, test our roots, making us strong and wise, Friendship, a shelter, in life's tempests, where compassion lies.

Courage, a roaring lion, fuels our souls with fearless might, Success, a mountaintop, reached after the arduous climb's delight. Memories, like old books, tell tales of laughter and tears, each experience, a teacher, guiding us through the passing years.

, life's essence beautifully unfolds, A tapestry of symbols, in which our stories are told.

1. What does life symbolize in the poem's first line?
2. What comparison is made between time and moments in the poem?
3. How are dreams described in the poem?
4. What does love harmonize like, according to the poem?
5. In the metaphorical language used, what does friendship represent?
6. What is the symbolism behind courage in the poem?
7. What is the imagery use for success in the poem.
8. How are memories portrayed in the poem?
9. How many metaphors does the poem have?
10. What is the poem's main idea?