EZ Screen Fans @LizaPrav

Modern Family S3 Ep 19

goals

I happen to like sherbet, He's clearly changing the subject, gorgeous, rejection, overlook, quirk

Read the examples and write original sentences using the words in bold to demonstrate their meaning. Focus on creating sentences that show how the words are used in real-life situations.

1. I happen to like: I happen to like sherbet more than ice cream.
2. Clearly changing the subject: When I asked about his grades, he's clearly changing the subject to avoid answering.
3. Gorgeous: The bride looked absolutely gorgeous in her wedding dress.
4. Rejection: Facing rejection after applying for my dream job was a challenging experience.
5. To overlook: In our excitement, we often overlook the small details that matter.
6. Quirky: Her quirky sense of humor always adds a fun twist to our conversations.

Read the text and fill in the gaps with words from the box quirk (*2) quirks (*2) quirky rejection overlooked gorgeous

Once upon a time in a small town, there lived a man named Daniel. Daniel had a habit of wearing mismatched socks. It was a simple , but it made him stand out in a town where everyone preferred perfection. People often his kindness and good nature due to his strange choice of footwear.

One sunny day, while Daniel was sipping his favorite sherbet at the local café, he couldn't help but notice a woman sitting at a nearby table. She had long, flowing hair and a smile that could brighten even the gloomiest day.

Summoning all his courage, Daniel decided to strike up a conversation. "Hello," he said with a friendly smile. "I happen to like sherbet. Have you tried the one they serve here? It's delicious."

The woman looked surprised, but then her face lit up. "I haven't tried it, but I'd love to," she replied.

As they chatted over sherbet, Daniel discovered that the woman's name was Emily. They talked about their favorite books, movies, and even their quirky habits. Daniel couldn't help but notice that Emily had a small of her own – she always carried a lucky charm in her pocket.

As they spent more time together, their connection grew stronger. Daniel realized that sometimes it's the unique and individual aspects of a person that make them truly special. He felt a deep sense of happiness, and for the first time, he didn't fear for being himself.

One day, as they sat at the café, Emily said, "You know, Daniel, I used to be self-conscious about my lucky charm, just as you were about your socks. But I've learned that our make us who we are, and they can lead to wonderful friendships."

Daniel smiled, knowing that he had found something far more precious than a perfect pair of socks – he had found a kindred spirit who appreciated him for who he was. And from that day on, they continued to enjoy their sherbet together, embracing their and their beautiful friendship.

LIVEWORKSHEETS