Exercise 2: Read the passage and write True (T) or False (F) (1 point)

Living in today's busy world, we often spend a lot of time watching TV. But do you know that reducing TV time can make you healthier and happier? Let's see how this small change can lead to a better life.

Watching less TV means more time for fun physical activities. You can ride a bike, dance, or play sports, making you feel energetic and strong. Also, spending less time in front of the TV means more time with family and friends. Talking and playing with them makes your relationships stronger and happier. Less TV time means better sleep. Too much TV before bed can make it hard to fall asleep, but less screen time helps you relax and sleep well. Moreover, with less TV, you can read, try new hobbies, and learn new things. This keeps your brain active and helps you be more creative. In conclusion, reducing TV time can lead to a healthier and more exciting life. So, let's turn off the TV and explore the wonderful world around us!

1. Reducing TV time can lead to a healthier and happier life. _____
2. Watching more TV provides more time for physical activities. _____
3. We can spend more time with family and friends if we watch less TV. _____
4. Too much TV before bed can help sleep well. _____
5. Reading and trying new hobbies are mentioned as benefits of reducing TV time. _____
