○ Sample 1

Hi, my name is Emma William. I have completed B. Tech. in Biotechnology from IIT, Kanpur. I performed my dissertation on microbial techniques and bacterial fermentation, where I performed all the experiments under my supervisor's guidance. I grasped the learned techniques well and want to further strengthen my knowledge and skills. Considering this, I want to apply for the Microbiological Project Assistant position.

○ Sample 2

Thank you for considering my application for an interview. I am Harry Grint, an M. Tech. in Microbiology from Massachusetts University. Besides independently working on my dissertation projects, I have gained hands-on experience during my internships.

Additionally, I find interest in Virology and have done a specialization course on the same.

○ Sample 3

Hello, I am Rita Roy working as an educator and researcher for about ten years. I began my career through a famous online educating platform where I helped more than 1000 students to qualify for national-level competitive examinations. After completing my doctorate studies, I joined Marymount University, LA, as Assistant Professor. Having about ten years of experience, I am suitable for the role of Professor and therefore wish to apply.
