Jane: It's Mum's birthday next week. What are we going to buy her?
Mark: I don't know, but let's not get her just flowers again. I know we haven't saved up a lot of money, but I think we should get her something different this year.
Jane: You're right. We could get her a nice set of linen handkerchiefs and have her name printed on them.
Mark: Hmm, I was thinking about something she could wear, like a pair of jeans.

Jane: But you know that Mum doesn't really like jeans. She prefers skirts.
Mark: True, but she's got dozens of them. I'm sure she doesn't need another one!
Jane: I know! Why don't we get her a leather handbag? I know it costs a lot, but I'm sure Dad will be willing to give us a little extra money for the occasion.
Mark: Great idea! I know she loves the one Mrs Jones has just bought, so we can get her something similar.
