Possessive adjectives/pronouns

- Possessive adjectives/pronouns can be used to talk about ownership or the relationship between people. Possessive adjectives are followed by nouns, whereas possessive pronouns are not. This is my diary. It's mine. Sometimes possessive pronouns go at the beginning of a sentence. Theirs is the blue car.
- We use the and not the possessive adjective with preposition phrases, mostly when we are talking about things that happen to parts of people's bodies, for example blows, pains, etc. Verbs used in this pattern are: hit, punch, slap, bite, touch, pat, sting, etc. He punched me on the nose. (NOT: on my nose)
- Own is used with possessive adjectives to emphasise the fact that something belongs to one person and no one else.
noun + of + my/your, etc. + own She's got a chauffeur of her own.
my/your, etc. + own + noun She's got her own chauffeur.

Reflexive/Emphatic Pronouns (myself, yourself, etc.)

- Reflexive pronouns are used with certain verbs such as behave, burn, cut, enjoy, hurt, kill, look at, laugh at, introduce, dry, teach, etc. or with prepositions when the subject and the object of the verb are the same. Mark (subject) taught himself (object) how to drive.
- Reflexive pronouns can be used after be, feel, look, seem to describe emotions or states. He doesn't seem himself these days. They are also used after prepositions but not after prepositions of place. He is so proud of himself. BUT He looked behind him. (NOT: ~~behind himself~~)
- Certain verbs do not normally take a reflexive pronoun. These are: wash, shave, (un)dress, afford, complain, meet, rest, relax, stand up, get up, sit down, wake up, etc. *He got up and shaved. We don't say: He got up himself and shaved himself. However we can use a reflexive pronoun with wash, shave, or dress when we want to show that the action is difficult. *Although Tony is handicapped, he can dress himself.
- Emphatic pronouns have the same form as reflexive pronouns but a different meaning. They emphasise the noun, or the fact that one person, and not another, performs an action. He himself conducted the interview. They also mean 'without help'. She fixed the leak herself. (without help) They go after nouns, pronouns or after 'but' and 'than'. She'd like to marry someone older than herself.
