River Station Statue tower

Ladies and gentlemen, here we are at the top of the tower in the Rockefeller Plaza. From here, we have an amazing view of the city. In front of you, you can see the huge green space that is Central park. Over there you can see MOMA – which is the art gallery of Modern Art. That's the city's huge, national museum. Look right and you can just see the trains going under the enormous roof of Grand Central station. Over the water, you can see Brooklyn bridge which goes over the East river. And in the distance, you can see the famous statue of Liberty – a woman holding a torch.
