Mr. Green is a very busy man. He gets up at six, and has breakfast half an hour later and drives to work in his small, red car. He spends about nine hours in the office, with a short lunch break just after midday. On his way back, he does the shopping and sometimes goes to the gym. When he finally gets home, it's usually almost seven o'clock, and he still has to water his exotic plants, which he grows in the garden. He has a small dinner and cleans up the kitchen just before he sits down to write e-mails to his friends all over the world. Sometimes he has a little time for an interesting book, but generally he goes to bed early, never after eleven o'clock.
