

What do you think customer service staff should do in the following situations? Match the situations 1-5 with the actions a-e.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 A customer is angry about a mistake.  | a Suggest a solution.                             |
| 2 An angry customer describes the problem.                                    | b Say what you can do.                            |
| 3 A customer complains but doesn't demand any action.                         | c Stay calm.                                      |
| 4 A customer demands action but the company can't do what the customer wants. | d Accept that you probably won't find a solution. |
| 5 The customer is a very difficult person.                                    | e Listen carefully and repeat to check.           |