From: Joon-Tae Shin

Re: Employee treatment

Date: July 20

As you all know, Ms. Noolan hired me earlier this year to be Noolan Software's first full-time human resources employee. One of my duties is looking at our overall situation from a personnel perspective, and now that I have been here for a few months, I have developed some suggestions for improvements. As a small business that hopes to grow into a larger one, it is important that we provide working conditions that attract and keep talented employees.

One important consideration is workload. We should be checking in with employees regularly to ensure that their tasks can be completed in a standard workweek. If your department's workload becomes too heavy, please set up a meeting with Ms. Noolan and me to discuss adding more personnel.

Similarly, employees should feel comfortable taking sick time when needed and using their full allotment of vacation days. This is an important way of protecting their health and morale.

Finally, please allow employees some flexibility in their hours as long as they meet their performance targets. While we are not yet able to support remote work, we can at least empower our employees to manage their own schedules within reason.

All of you, Ms. Noolan, and I will meet on Thursday at 10 A.M. to talk about the contents of this memo. Please note that Ms. Noolan has already given her approval to my recommendations, so the meeting will not be an opportunity to debate them. Instead, we will focus on how best to achieve them. Thank you.

172. What is indicated about Noolan Software?

- (A) It recently opened a new office.
- (B) It was founded less than a year ago.
- (C) It does not have many employees.
- (D) It must satisfy its shareholders.

173. What is NOT mentioned as a way to improve treatment of employees?

- (A) Adjustable working hours
- (B) A reasonable workload
- (C) Easy usage of leave time
- (D) An on-site health program

174. According to the memo, why should recipients schedule a meeting with Mr. Shin?

- (A) To express opposition to his ideas
- (B) To propose hiring more workers
- (C) To recommend a performance-based bonus
- (D) To secure permission for a staff member to work remotely

175. What does Mr. Shin suggest about the recommendations in the memo?

- (A) They will also be announced to the entire staff.
- (B) They are supported by scientific research.
- (C) They are endorsed by the business's owner.
- (D) They have been adopted by a competitor.

Questions 181-185 refer to the following article and letter to the editor.

(February 7)—A Waymarr convenience store is coming to Denold City.

The city's Economic Development Committee (EDC) unanimously approved Waymarr's plans to construct a 4,600-square-foot convenience store, which will feature a tiled canopy above its 12 gas pumps. It will be built on a plot of vacant land on Mildren Drive, near Route 7, and remain open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

To operate the store, the company will have to comply with the city's noise and traffic reduction regulations. Among other things, it will not be allowed to accept deliveries via heavy trucks between 1:00 A.M. and 5:00 A.M., with the exception of gasoline. Trucks will also be unable to access the store from Mildren Drive, so Waymarr will build a private road leading to the store's receiving area.

Approval came after a public meeting that included presentations by the company's own traffic engineers. The residents in attendance voiced a mixture of support and opposition. Betty Timpano, who lives on the 400 block of Mildren Drive, said she liked the idea of a convenience store in the neighborhood but had concerns about increased traffic along nearby Ramona Way. As evidence, she showed a digital video she had shot from her car window during rush hour. It showed heavy vehicle congestion on Ramona Way near Brook Street.

On the other hand, resident Steve Grossick said he would welcome the store because it would provide a "quick, warm bite to eat" after work. Currently, the nearest convenience store is a Weisbold Plus shop on Laurel Street, about three kilometers away.

Dear Editor,

As a lifelong resident of Denold City, I was grateful for your February 7 report on the planned Waymarr convenience store. However, the article contained some incorrect information. The digital video I presented at the public meeting was a recording of congested traffic on my street of residence.

Also, I would like to remind you that two citizens voiced concerns about the modern design of the store. I agree with them that we must try to retain our city's distinctive architectural character. New buildings should, if possible, blend in with our historical structures.

Again, thank you for your reporting.

Sincerely,

Betty Timpano
