Saving the Ocean, Bracelet by Bracelet

Look around you. You can probably see many objects made of plastic. Plastic is an important part of our lives, but each year about 8 million tons of plastic goes into our seas and oceans. In the future, there may be more plastic in the ocean than fish! This is not only a problem for creatures that live in the ocean; it's a problem for humans, too, because fish eat plastic and humans eat fish.

EMPRESA PÚBLICA "LA UEMEPRENDE E.P."

So, what can you do to help? Well, if you buy a bracelet online you can help remove a pound of trash from the world's oceans.

This is the idea of 4Ocean, a business which was started by two surfers, Andrew Cooper and Alex Schulze. They had their idea when they were surfing in Bali, Indonesia. Some fishermen were having problems moving their boats through the water because there was so much plastic. Andrew and Alex suggested that the fishermen use their nets to remove the plastic. But the fishermen said, 'We don't get paid to collect plastic; we get paid to catch fish.' The surfers saw a big problem and decided to do something. Their idea was the 4Ocean bracelet.

Each bracelet that is sold helps to provide money to support a team of ocean cleaners. Since the company started, over 150 people have joined 4Ocean to work in many countries around the world. 4Ocean's first goal is to remove a million pounds of trash from the ocean and coasts. If you want to help, you can buy a bracelet and you can also work as a volunteer.

There's too much plastic in the ocean and it's a big problem. However, if people work together by using less plastic and developing new ideas like the 4Ocean bracelet, then maybe we can really help save our oceans..
