

Tegball is just a few years old. It's from Hungary. It's a combination of football and table tennis! There's a table but you use your feet and head, like football. People usually play in teams of two. Men and women play together. Natalia Guitler from Brazil is one of the best players in the world.

Cycle ball looks modern but it's over 120 years old. It's from the USA. Players move the ball with the wheels of their bikes. The four players are on their bikes all the time and don't put their feet on the ground. Players often crash into each other, so it's more dangerous than many other sports.

Swamp football is from Finland, but there are about 300 swamp football teams around the world. There are six players in each team, including a goalkeeper. It's very tiring so the pitch is smaller than a normal football pitch, and the game is shorter – only 20 minutes.

There are five players in a blind football team. The goalkeeper can see but the other players are blind, or partially blind. They all wear masks so the players are equal. Inside the ball, there are small bells. The fans don't shout so the players can hear the ball and the instructions from their coaches.