When Buaya Tembaga arrived at Baru Island, the animals welcomed him and prepared delicious food and drinks for him. They really hoped that Buaya Tembaga could defeat the snake. Then, Buaya Tembaga went to the place where the snake lived. The snake saw Buaya Tembaga and attacked him. Buaya Tembaga managed to avoid the attack and he fought the snake back. They had a fight for hours, but nobody seemed to win.

When the party was over, Buaya Tembaga retured to his place. He was happy that he could help others. His friendship with the animals and people lasted ever after.

A long time ago, a very big and powerful crocodile lived in Baguala Bay, Maluku. He had yellowish skin so people called him Buaya Tembaga. Although he was very strong, he never disturbed or harmed others. He always helped people and animals so that they loved him dearly.

The animals felt worried about their safety due to the snake's existence. They thought hard to find a solution to their problem. They heard about Buaya Tembaga's kindness and decided to ask for his help. Then, a few animals went to Baguala Bay to meet Buaya Tembaga. They asked for his help and he agreed. Soon, Buaya Tembaga prepared himself to Baru Island. Buaya Tembaga's character was different from a snake's living on Baru Island.

Buaya Tembaga's character was different from a snake's living on Baru Island. The snake lived near a river and always fed on animals living around him. He stayed on a tree and entwined its body onto the branch.

At last, Buaya Tembaga used his tail to attack the snake. The snake died and his body plunged into the river. The animals were relieved knowing Buaya Tembaga's victory. They screamed happily and prepared a big celebration for him. They appreciated Buaya Tembaga's etfort and thanked him so deeply that they served delicious food and drinks for him. They also sang and danced happily.

Arrange the following jumbled paragraphs into a sequential text then identify the generic structure of the text.

Text	Generic Structure

	