

The Frame of Reference: Window in the World

The Frame of Reference model shows us that the way we all make sense of the world, of other people and ourselves, are unique to each one of us.

Take a few moments to think about the aspects of your life that make up your Frame of Reference. Which are most important to you? Which do you think might change over time?

