

Listening

Past Perfect

PAST PERFECT

We use the Past Perfect when we mention two events in the past and we need to emphasize the order.
Look at the timeline.

When I turned on the TV, the movie had already finished.

Event in the past

Event in the past

Present

PAST PERFECT SIMPLE PAST

1st event: the movie finished

2nd event: I turned on the TV

Consequence: I missed the movie, that's why I'm disappointed.

A) Listen and match

- It was obvious that
- She said
- They had lived in California for six years
- Jim had never
- Alice wanted everyone to try the dessert
- It seemed as though
- My teacher admitted that
- They weren't certain if
- We would have bought the furniture if
- .
- Many children died because he had forgotten about the assignment.

they hadn't been vaccinated
it had cost a little less.

he had made a mistake,
she had prepared for the party.
I had met her somewhere else.
caught such a large fish before the test had been successful.
before they realized their mistake in moving there she hadn't slept all night

2) Put the words in order

because

bad news

all

stayed

night

she received

She

had

up

Italian

You

to

studied

Rome

moved

before

had

you

Good
job!!