

Shopping List
Listening Exercise

Listen to the woman and man talk about what they want to make for dinner. Fill in the missing words. Answer the questions.

Woman: What's for dinner? I want _____.

Man: I'm thinking about making _____, but we need to go shopping. Let's make a _____.

Woman: What do we have in the _____?

Man: Hmm... We have a lot of _____ and a _____.

Woman: Do we have _____ onions?

Man: Yes, we have _____ onions. There are three onions here.

Woman: What about fruit? Do we have _____ apples?

Man: No, we _____ have _____ apples. I'm writing apples on the list.

Woman: I think we need bread.

Man: You're right. We don't have any _____.

Woman: I want _____ honey. This _____ is empty.

Man: Sure. I like honey. I think we also need sparkling water. Can you check? Do we need _____ sparkling water?

Woman: No, we don't need any sparkling water. There are lots of _____ under the stairs. But what about dinner tonight? This shopping list doesn't sound like pasta or soup.

Man: I have an idea. We can use the eggs to make an omelet. If we get lots of _____, then I can make a salad tonight and we can have salad for _____ tomorrow too.

Woman: Sounds great. Healthy and delicious. Let's go!
