The client thanked me for my patience and asked if I could provide a more concise summary of the project timeline. I agreed and provided a shorter, more focused summary. 4. The client was satisfied with the summary and thanked me again. They also mentioned that they appreciated my willingness to listen to their feedback. 5. I thanked the client for their feedback and expressed my appreciation for their patience. I also mentioned that I would be happy to provide more information if they needed it.	1.
