READING. Read this text and circle T for true or F for false*5 x 0.4 = 2 marks

Some years ago Akira, a 19-year-old Japanese girl, began writing a novel about her life. She finished it in three weeks, and she called it Dreams Come True. She wasn't an experienced writer but when a paper book version of her novel came out a few months later, a lot of people bought it. It was a great success and it sold over 200,000 copies. As a result, Akira became famous in her country.

It's an incredible story. But the most amazing thing about it is that Akira wrote the novel on her mobile phone! She posted the chapters on a website and readers downloaded it immediately. They liked the story and they wanted to read more. Did she like writing her novel? Yes, she did. She wrote it in her free time!

In Japan, there is a generation of young novelists. Akira is one of them. These young writers write in simple style on their mobile phones. They use abbreviations and emoticons. Many of the best-selling paper books in Japan were originally mobile phone novels.

1. This text is about Akira's popularity.
2. Akira wrote her novel very slowly.
3. Akira was a famous writer when she wrote her novel.
4. Mobile phone novelists write in long sentences.
5. Mobile phone novels are new in Japan.
