Directions: Let's make a paragraph today.

What are the foxes good at? How can the owls and squirrels help? Think about the type of traps you can create to fight the humans, and scare them off. Could you damage their machines or stop the humans from cutting down the trees another way? Could you add a plot twist somewhere in your story? For example, are humans the real bad guys? Or is there another animal involved who wants to hurt your friends? How will your short story end? Will it be a happy ending with all the animals celebrating? Or will it be a sad ending with some of your animal friends getting hurt or having to move homes? Can you write a story about a group of forest animals saving their home from being destroyed?
