Dear Alia,

How are you and how is your family. I wanted to share some interesting information with you about traditional homes in Oman called Barasti houses.

Barasti houses, also known as palm branches houses. They are commonly found in coastal regions of the Arabian Gulf, particularly in the United Arab Emirates and Oman. These houses were built because of the hot weather. In summer the weather is hot and so people wanted a place to stay away from heat.

These houses are small and simple. They are made of one room with flat roof. This type of house was made of palm branches. People who live near the sea built their houses there. The weather inside the houses is cool inside because the sea air comes through the palm branches. So, it is always comfortable. Many years ago, this type of house traditional in Batinah coast. You can still see some of them by the seaside where fishermen use them to put their tools.

I hope you found this information as interesting as I did. I look forward to hearing your thoughts and catching up with you soon.

Best regards,

Maha
