

Choose the correct option.

1. When I'm travelling, I love to _____ with the local people.
 - a. get round
 - b. hang out
 - c. run into
2. India was so different that I had a bit of _____ for a few weeks.
 - a. culture shock
 - b. culture gap
 - c. cultural exchange
3. I got _____ somewhere when I was travelling, and I felt ill for weeks!
 - a. food poisoning
 - b. food
 - c. the doctor
4. When he went to Japan, he stayed with a _____.
 - a. B & B
 - b. host family
 - c. hotel
5. I'm fortunate because, wherever I go, people seem to be very _____ to me.
 - a. angry
 - b. welcome
 - c. welcoming
6. I spent three days in Rome, and saw _____.
 - a. the sights
 - b. sights
 - c. a sight
7. Jane _____ on the train, and had to phone home for money to continue her trip.
 - a. got robbed
 - b. robbed
 - c. got sick
8. One of my favourite things is to _____ in the mountains!
 - a. get hiking
 - b. go
 - c. go hiking
9. It's good to get _____ when you're in a big city, then you can see the places that tourists don't usually see.
 - a. off
 - b. off track
 - c. off the beaten track

Complete each sentence with one phrasal verb from the list. There are two phrasal verbs that you do not need.

break down come down pick up queue up turn out

10. When you go to the ticket office, you often have to _____ to get tickets.
11. If you _____ on the road, you should call the local garage.

12. Everything will _____ fine, I'm sure

Complete each sentence with one correct phrase from the list. There are two phrases that you do not need.

be up for got on with kept in touch rushed in tripped him up

13. My schoolfriend Angela and I have always _____.

14. My friend Hal asked me if I'd _____ a trip to the mountains this weekend.

15. When I met Ray, I _____ him immediately, and we've been friends ever since.

Complete each sentence with the correct option.

16. When I was in Paris, I _____ (was thinking / am thinking) about going to Rome next.

17. It was wonderful to be home. I _____ (travelled / had been travelling) around Europe for so long!

18. It was time to look for adventure. I was 23 and I _____ (had never left / never left) Manchester!

19. While we _____ (had stayed / were staying) in Madrid, we decided to visit Barcelona.

20. I was in New York at last! It was something I _____ (had dreamed / dreamed) of for so long!

Complete the sentences with the correct options.

21. I really _____ (love / am loving) different cultures, and I _____ (plan / will plan) to spend this winter in Japan.

22. I _____ (spent / have spent) last summer in Italy, and I really _____ (have loved / loved) it.

23. I _____ (think / was thinking) about what I would do in the summer when Jake _____ (asked / was asking) me to go to Peru with him.

24. Before I _____ (went / had gone) to Finland, I _____ (didn't visit / hadn't visited) any Scandinavian countries.

25. I _____ (had been working / worked) in Spain for about a year when Ben _____ (had arrived / arrived).

Choose the correct option.

26. In the UK, it was not until 1928 that women over 21
- used to vote.
 - were able to vote.
27. When I was 18,
- I used to realise that I was quite a good writer.
 - I realised that I was quite a good writer.
28. When I was a student, I often
- used to hitchhike.
 - would hitchhike.
29. When I saw the magnificent cathedral of Notre Dame for the first time,
- I was absolutely amazed.
 - I would be absolutely amazed.
30. I'm a teacher now, but in the past,
- I would work in a bank.
 - I used to work in a bank.

Are the following sentences correct? Choose Y (Yes) or N (No).

31. When I was a child, my family used to celebrate Bonfire Night, or Guy Fawkes night, on 5th November.
32. My brother and I would start planning months in advance by collecting wood for the fire.
33. Then we use to make a 'guy' or a man out of old clothes and straw.
34. In England, it would be common for children to collect money from neighbours, asking for a 'penny for the guy'.
35. The money didn't used to last long because we would go to buy fireworks.
- Choose the correct option.
36. She told me that she _____ (used to believe / believed) in love at first sight, but she doesn't any more.
37. In those days, the winters _____ (would / used to) be really bad.
38. I never really _____ (would like / liked) him.
39. Last year, the whole family _____ (went / would go) on a cruise to Alaska.
40. When my parents were children, their teachers never _____ (would be / used to be) so friendly.

Read. Choose T (True) or F (False).

Street Food in Mumbai

The first time I went to Mumbai, I admit that I was a bit scared of trying the street food. I would stick to my hotel or upscale restaurants when I wanted to eat dinner, rather than get off the beaten track. Fear of stomach upsets or, worse, food poisoning, caused me to be conservative in my eating habits. However, by my second visit, I had got used to the heat of Indian food and I decided to be brave. It was really worth it!

Like Delhi, the huge city of Mumbai is famous for its street food, called 'chaat' – from the Hindi word chaatna, meaning 'to lick'. It's a very appropriate description considering these snacks will really leave you licking your fingers.

Mumbai is a very culturally diverse city, and an aspect of that is the food experience that it offers. Mumbai has a great variety of street foods and everyone, from billionaire to beggar enjoys them. One of the best dishes I tried was Vada Pav, which is sometimes called 'poor man's burger', Vada Pav is one thing that you will find on every street corner. Pav is Indian for a bread bun, and the fritter stuffed with mashed potato in between the bread is called 'Vada'. This delicious dish is served with fried chilies and spicy and sweet chutney, a kind of pickle which is very common in India.

There are more than 50,000 Vada Pav stalls in Mumbai, so you will never be very far away from one. If you're in Mumbai for business or pleasure, treat yourself to this very typical dish. It's cheap, filling and tasty, so a really good snack to start with if you want to experience Mumbai's street food. You won't be sorry!

41. The writer didn't eat street food the first time she went to Mumbai.
42. She wishes she hadn't tried the street food.
43. Only poor people eat street food.
44. There are a lot of different cultures in Mumbai.
45. Vada Pav includes potato.
46. It's hard to find Vada Pav.

Read. Complete each sentence with the correct word from the list.

hamburger high-class spicy tasty unadventurous wealthy

Street Food in Mumbai

The first time I went to Mumbai, I admit that I was a bit scared of trying the street food. I would stick to my hotel or upscale restaurants when I wanted to eat dinner, rather than get off the beaten track. Fear of stomach upsets or, worse, food poisoning, caused me to be conservative in my eating habits. However, by my second visit, I had got used to the heat of Indian food and I decided to be brave. It was really worth it!

Like Delhi, the huge city of Mumbai is famous for its street food, called 'chaat' – from the Hindi word chaatna, meaning 'to lick'. It's a very appropriate description considering these snacks will really leave you licking your fingers.

Mumbai is a very culturally diverse city, and an aspect of that is the food experience that it offers. Mumbai has a great variety of street foods and everyone, from billionaire to beggar enjoys them. One of the best dishes I tried was Vada Pav, which is sometimes called 'poor man's burger', Vada Pav is one thing that you will find on every street corner. Pav is Indian for a bread bun, and the fritter stuffed with mashed potato in between the bread is called 'Vada'. This delicious dish is served with fried chilies and spicy and sweet chutney, a kind of pickle which is very common in India.

There are more than 50,000 Vada Pav stalls in Mumbai, so you will never be very far away from one. If you're in Mumbai for business or pleasure, treat yourself to this very typical dish. It's cheap, filling and tasty, so a really good snack to start with if you want to experience Mumbai's street food. You won't be sorry! You won't be sorry!

47. Another word for delicious is _____.
48. Indian food is often very _____.
49. The first time she was in Mumbai, the writer was _____.
50. She preferred to eat in _____ restaurants and hotels.
51. Even _____ people eat street food in Mumbai.
52. Vada Pav is a kind of _____ for poor people.

Read. Answer the questions. Street

Food in Mumbai

The first time I went to Mumbai, I admit that I was a bit scared of trying the street food. I would stick to my hotel or upscale restaurants when I wanted to eat dinner, rather than get off the beaten track. Fear of stomach upsets or, worse, food poisoning, caused me to be conservative in my eating habits. However, by my second visit, I had got used to the heat of Indian food and I decided to be brave. It was really worth it!

Like Delhi, the huge city of Mumbai is famous for its street food, called "chaat" -- from the Hindi word chaatna, meaning "to lick." It's a very appropriate description considering these snacks will really leave you licking your fingers.

Mumbai is a very culturally diverse city, and an aspect of that is the food experience that it offers. Mumbai has a great variety of street foods that it puts on display and everyone, from billionaire to beggar enjoys them. One of the best dishes I tried was Vada Pav. Also referred to as a 'poor man's burger,' Vada Pav is one thing that you will find in every street, corner and crossroad. Pav is Indian for a bread bun, and the fritter stuffed with mashed potato in between the bread is called 'Vada'. This mouth-watering dish is served with fried chilies and spicy and sweet chutney, a kind of pickle which is very common in India.

There are more than 50,000 Vada Pav stalls in Mumbai, so you will never be very far away from one. If you're in Mumbai for business or pleasure, treat yourself to this very typical dish. It's cheap, filling and tasty, so a really good snack to start with if you want to experience Mumbai's street food. You won't be sorry!

53. Which is the most important reason the author gives for not eating street food on her first visit to Mumbai?

54. Choose two examples that the author uses to stress how common street food in Mumbai.

55. How does she explain the fact that she tried street food on her second visit?

Listen. Choose T (True) or F (False). Audio 3.01

56. The conversation is about a hiking trip in Italy.
57. The woman visited a place about an hour from Genoa.
58. The apartment they stayed in was close to the station.
59. They had bicycles, but they never rode them.
60. Belinda speaks some Italian.

Listen. Match the word to the correct meaning. Audio 3.01

61. gorgeous
a. nice
b. large
c. beautiful
62. terrace
a. patio
b. bedroom
c. window
63. aperitif
a. cold food
b. a small drink before dinner
c. a little snack
64. hang out
a. meet
b. find
c. spend time
65. local
a. resident
b. person
c. pub

Listen. Match the two parts of the sentences. Audio 3.01

- a. speak Italian to the locals.
b. really enjoyed her trip.
c. in an apartment close to the sea.

- d. by train and bicycle.
- e. in the Cinque Terre.

- 66. Belinda said she
- 67. While they were there, they travelled around
- 68. They stayed
- 69. They did a hike
- 70. Belinda would

Writing

- 66. Write a review of a restaurant you have visited or a hotel you have stayed in. Write at least four sentences.

Match the additional comment to the sentence.

- a. which was very early for us.
- b. which was a bit disappointing.
- c. which was very romantic.
- d. which was very convenient.

- 67. They played music at our table,
- 68. They served breakfast at 7.30,
- 69. The hotel was right in the centre of the town,
- 70. Our room was very small,

Watch and answer the questions. Write one or two sentences. Video 1.1

- 71. What did the speaker ask the man in the red Mazda?

- 72. Why did the speaker's anxiety grow?

- 73. Two years after his first experience, what happened to Joe?

74. Why did people not want to invest in a service which allows strangers into homes?

75. What is the gift of creativity for Joe?

76. What was the question that he and his business partner asked about design and the Airbnb idea?
