 LIVEWORKSHEETS

Once, a hunter lived a village. He used to boast of his brave hunting trips to the villagers. The villagers respected him a lot. He mostly told everyone how he had fought a lion bare-handed. He said that the tiny animals used to get scared even at the sight of him. One day, the hunter was passing through a forest. He met a woodcutter from the same village. The boastful hunter approached him and said, "How are you? It's a fine day, isn't it?". "Yes, yes, indeed!", the woodcutter replied. "Well, can you tell me if you have seen some footprints of the lion nearby?" "It's been months since I defeated any". The woodcutter knew that the hunter only boasted, so he said, "Yes, a lion is in a nearby den. Can I take you there?". The scared hunter said, "No No I only just wanted to see his footprints". Finally, the boastful hunter ran away from the spot.
