For many people, the Middle East is a great place to work and there are a number of reasons why. The average ¹ occupation / salary is very high, which means that you can save a lot of money even if you only work there for a few years. Some jobs come with rent-free ² accommodation / qualification, so you don't need to worry about finding somewhere to live. The ³ working conditions / working hours are usually from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. from Sundays to Thursdays, with Fridays and Saturdays free. If, for some reason, your company decides that they can no longer keep you in your job and make you ⁴ redundant / unemployed, there are certain laws to protect you. It's easy to see why employees report a good level of ⁵ career prospects / job satisfaction and recommend the Middle East to others considering working abroad!

Mr Khan Welcome, Dimitar. Please, sit down.

Dimitar Thank you.

Mr Khan I have your CV somewhere ...

¹ _____ ... ah, here it is. So, you're here about the position in customer service? It says on your CV that you work well with people.

² _____ by that, please?

Dimitar Well, I've worked in shops in the past. ³ _____, I spent three years at a large department store. I had to talk to customers a lot there and I really liked that.

Mr Khan I see. And it also says here that you are a self-starter.

Dimitar That's right.

Mr Khan ⁴ _____ what you mean by that. Can you give me some examples?

Dimitar I often find the solutions to problems by myself. I don't always need a manager to tell me what to do, so I'd say I'm ... ⁵ _____? Proactive, that's it – yes, I'd call myself proactive. For example, when I was at the department store, I made a display of a new product to help it to sell better. That was all my own idea.
