2 Add commas only to the non-defining relative clauses in the passage.

Stomatopods which are also known as Mantis Shrimps are amazing creatures that live in tropical waters. This animal which is incredible for many reasons is able to throw a "punch" at 15000 newtons of force which is around three times as much as an experienced human boxer. This creature's punch is so powerful that the water that sits around its claws will boil for a second after it! The Mantis shrimp whose colours are incredibly distinctive can also see a whole range of colours that humans can't see. Our eyes are only able to see three primary colours which as we know are red, yellow and blue but other animals can see more. Another animal that can see more colours is the butterfly which can perceive two extra colours.
