

Laura, visiting Bangkok for the first time, felt somewhat uncertain about how to navigate the city safely. She decided to ask for advice at the hostel where she was staying. She spoke with the receptionist, who provided valuable tips: "It's important to always be alert with your belongings, especially in crowded areas. Also, I recommend using authorized taxis for traveling at night." Laura thanked and decided to also ask other travelers in the hostel. She found that many shared similar suggestions and some even gave her recommendations of safe places to visit. Armed with this new information, Laura felt more confident to explore the vibrant city.

According to the story answer these questions:

1 What was Laura's concern ?

4 What question would you use to ask for recommendations?

2 Who gave her good advices about safety?

5 What is one of the suggestions that Laura heard ?

3 What sentence would replace "it's important to always be alert"?

6 Did Laura feel safe after all the advices she got?