

Statements:

1. The original ketchup in England was made with tomatoes.
2. Fishermen in China started making fish sauce around 300 BCE.
3. The Romans built fish sauce factories throughout Europe.
4. The Dutch East India Company brought fish sauce to Europe in the early 1600s.
5. Ketchup was originally called "ke-tsiap" and "koe-cheup" in Southeast Asia.
6. European ships supplied ketchup throughout Asia until the mid-1700s.
7. British cookbooks in the 1700s contained recipes for various types of ketchup.
8. Worcestershire sauce is a type of ketchup.
9. The first tomato-based ketchup was introduced by a French chef.
10. Heinz changed the ketchup recipe in the 20th century to include more vinegar.