First beginnings
Jamie Oliver is a well-known British chef. He was born on 27th May 1975 in Essex. His parents ran a pub restaurant and taught him how to cook when he was young.

Becoming a chef
He went to college to study cooking when he was 16 and then worked in France. Next, he worked in London at Carluccio's and The River Café.

Training others
At the end of 2002, he opened his first restaurant, 'Fifteen', in London. His idea was to help young people without jobs to learn how to cook with professionals and find work. It was a big success and now there are 'Fifteen' restaurants all around the world.

A small idea grows big
In 2008, Jamie then started another restaurant business – this time with Italian food. The original 'Jamie's Italian' opened in Oxford and there are now around 40 of them in the UK in cities such as Exeter and Brighton. There are 'Jamie's Italian' restaurants in Australia, Singapore, Brazil and Russia too, with plans for more soon.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Britney and Justin, Kate and Leonardo ... celebrities who have something in common: a close friendship.

Some film stars were friends when they were children. Americans Leonardo DiCaprio and Tobey Maguire (Spider-man) were good friends, starting when they were child actors looking for work on the same films and TV shows.

Work often brings famous people together. Justin Timberlake and Britney Spears were on the Mickey Mouse Club Show, a children's TV programme, together when they were eleven years old. George Clooney and Brad Pitt were co-stars in Ocean's Eleven and are very close now.

Sometimes friends in real life play lovers on screen and that can be difficult. Kate Winslet and Leonardo DiCaprio are good friends, but they don't have a romantic relationship. In the film Titanic, for both of them, the kissing scenes were strange. 'It was like I was kissing my brother,' says Kate.

Of course, there are stars who don't want to be friends with other stars. Hugh Grant says he doesn't like spending time with other actors. 'I don't have any actor friends,' Grant says. 'I'm friends on the film and then I walk away.'

1. George and Brad are good friends.
2. Kate and Leonardo had a romantic relationship in real life.
