CARL: No.

RUSSELL: I could help your _____ . (4)

CARL: No.

RUSSELL: I could help you cross your... _____ ? (5)

CARL: No.

RUSSELL: Well, I gotta help you cross _____ . (6)

CARL: Uh, no. I'm doing fine.

((Carl closes the door))

RUSSELL: "Good afternoon. My name is Russell and I am a wilderness explorer in Tribe 54, Sweatlodge 12

CARL: Kid. KID!

RUSSELL: _____ (7) of any assistance today Sir?"

CARL: Thank you, but _____ (8) any help!

RUSSELL: Ow.

((Carl closes the door for the second time))

CARL: Proceed.

RUSSELL: "Good afternoon. My-

CARL: But skip to the end!

RUSSELL: See these. These are my Wilderness Explorer

_____. (9) You may notice one is missing. It's my Assisting the Elderly badge. If I get it, I will become a Senior Wilderness Explorer.

RUSSELL: "The wilderness must be explored! CAW-CAW! RAAAR!"

RUSSELL: It's gonna be great! There's a big ceremony, and all the dads come, and they pin on our badges...

CARL: So you want to _____ ? (10)

RUSSELL: Yep! Then I will be a Senior Wilderness Explorer!

CARL: You ever heard of a snipe?

RUSSELL: Snipe?

CARL: Bird. Beady eyes. Every night it sneaks in my _____ (11) and gobbles my poor azaleas. I'm elderly and infirm. I can't _____ (12). If only someone could _____ (13)

RUSSELL: Me! Me! I'll do it!

CARL: Oh, _____ (14), it's awfully crafty. You'd have to clap your hands three times to lure it in.

RUSSELL: I'll find it, Mr. Fredricksen!

CARL: I think its burrow is two blocks down. If you go past --

RUSSELL: Two blocks down! _____ (15)

RUSSELL: Sniiiipe! Here Snipey Snipey...

CARL: _____ (16) it back here when you find it!
