The unique beauty of Ha Long Bay with its karst makes it a natural to be added to UNESCO's World (1) listing. But, it seems the opinions are (2) among travelers.

There are more than 1,600 islets in the bay, their limestone worn down by 500 (3) years of tropical downpours, and topped by thick jungle growth. Some of the islands are hollow, creating majestic caves. Some of the larger (4) have their own lakes.

At the centre of the bay there are 775 of the formations in an area of just 330 square kilometres - an invitation for (5) to board a traditional Vietnamese junk-boat and explore the bay, its island, caves, and floating villages.
