We had the time of our life last weekend. Evan is one of my best friends and he turned twenty-five. I hired a DJ, who was incredible. He played good music from the beginning to the end. We danced and sang all night long. Imagine this: we were dancing and having fun when suddenly the sun started to rise. It was 6 am!

I also met some cool guys. Angela and Liam are Evan's colleagues. We are going to go out all together next week.

Evan's party was just the best party ever. We always work long hours; so, it was a perfect occasion to chill out and enjoy... The music was one of the most enjoyable things... I didn't get bored at all. I'm not a great dancer, but I felt like dancing... I was just sitting when my favorite song of all times started... I couldn't stop dancing!

I also made new friends; so, what can I say? It was an amazing night...
