

Correct the spelling using “aw” “au” and “al”

Eager but sick with nerves, Emmy waited for her turn to ordition. Awlthough she had practiced her routine for months and could perform each element with florless grace, she still doubted herself. Particularly after the orful incident at her last performance. Katie, an extremely norghty dancer who was awlways in trouble, had “accidentally” squeezed sorce all over Emmy’s costume just before she was due to perform. Determined to amaze the ordience, Emmy had ordaciously stepped out on stage only to slip on more sauce and sprorl across the wooden floor. Her helpless squork was met with an orkward silence from the crowd and Emmy fled mortified from the hall. The memory continued to hornt her. Not today though. Today was Emmy’s time to shine.

Scroll down and complete page 2

Match the word to its definition,

flawless – audaciously – auspicious – sprawl – brawny - gnaw

To do something in a way that takes great risks in order to achieve something. Synonyms: daring, bravely, boldly Strong and muscular
A word that describes that success is likely Synonyms: promising, favourable, timely
To bite repeatedly. Synonyms: bite, shew, nibble, munch To worry or feel troubled about something. Synonyms: distress, worry
A word to describe that something is extremely good with no faults or problems
To lie or sit down with your arms and legs spread out in a careless way Synonyms: loll, slump, lounge, flop

Noun – Verb – Adjective or Adverb

author –

awesome -

yawn -

launch –

gnaw -

pause –

auditory -

lawful -

