A bad night to have an accident

Linda was driving back from her friend's house through the countryside. It was raining, so she was driving slowly because she didn't want to have an accident. Suddenly, she lost control of the car and crashed into a tree. Luckily, she wasn't injured, but she couldn't understand what had happened. She got out of her car to take a look at the damage. Immediately, she noticed that her front tyre was flat and realised it was the cause of the accident. She tried to call her friend for help, but her mobile phone had no battery. It was raining very hard, so she got in her car to wait for it to stop. She waited and waited, but the rain didn't stop, so she decided to change the tyre on her own. It was really hard work, but after half an hour she managed to fix it. As soon as she finished, the rain stopped and she felt great. She got in the car, but she couldn't start the engine. So, she sat there and waited again. Then she tried again, but nothing. As she was thinking about what to do next, it started raining again. In the end, she took an umbrella from the boot and walked back along the road. At about midnight, Linda arrived at her friend's house. Her friend was shocked to see her. It was too late to do anything, so she stayed the night and called for a mechanic in the morning. It was an experience she never wants to have again.

1. Why did Linda crash her car?2. How long did it take her to change the tyre?3. Why didn't she drive home?4. How did she get to her friend's house?
