Are you know about the Youth Film Festival? It's happening every year in different cities in Belgium. There are talks, meetings, classes and interesting events. And there are lots of films about young people to see. It's next month and I go for the first time this year. Some successful directors are come to talk about their films. My dad takes me to the festival. He is loving films too. Every year, a group of young people choose the film they like best and that film wins a prize. Next year, I want to join the group. At the moment, I look at the website and choosing the films I'm wanting to watch. It's difficult because there are so many great films. I can't wait!
