

Match the word/phrase its definition.

1- What it takes

2- A stuntman

3- High-octane packed

4- Swap

5- Jerk back

6- Cranes

7- Set up

8- Hunky-dory

9- Bricking it

10- Next level

a- person who performs dangerous actions, often in movies or television shows, in place of actors to ensure safety and realism.

b- the process of arranging or assembling something, often to prepare it for use or operation. It can also mean establishing or organizing something, such as a system or arrangement.

c- refers to something that is full of intense energy, excitement, or action, often used to describe movies, events, or experiences that are thrilling and fast-paced.

d- refers to the act of trading one thing for another between two or more parties.

e- refers to a sudden, involuntary movement backward, often caused by surprise, fear, or a reflex reaction to an external stimulus.

f- are large machines used to lift and move heavy objects, often found on construction sites or in industrial settings

g- is an idiomatic phrase used to describe something that exceeds expectations or goes beyond what is currently considered standard or typical. It can be used to describe various aspects such as skills, experiences, products, or performances that are notably impressive or innovative.

h- is a colloquial British expression that means to be extremely nervous, scared, or anxious about something. It implies feeling so frightened that one might metaphorically "brick" oneself, as if turning into a solid block out of fear.

i- is an English idiom used to describe a situation or state of affairs that is satisfactory, pleasant, or going well.

j- the skills, qualities, and effort required to successfully achieve a particular goal or complete a task. It implies having all the necessary attributes or resources needed to overcome challenges and meet objectives.