

English for children

Once upon a time, in a quaint little town nestled among rolling hills, there lived a family known as the Miller. They were a colourful bunch, each with their own unique personality and profession. Let me introduce you to them.

First, there was Mr. Miller, a tall and distinguished man who worked as a mathematician. He often wore a navy blue suit and carried a sleek black briefcase. Mrs. Miller, his loving wife, is an artist who adores painting vibrant landscapes. She is always seen in her flowing floral dresses, splashes of colour against the canvas of life.

Their children, Tom and Emily, are a playful duo. Tom, with his curly brown hair and mischievous grin, dreams of becoming an astronaut. He spends his days building cardboard rockets and exploring imaginary galaxies. Emily, their younger sister, is a budding scientist who loves to conduct colourful experiments in the backyard, her laughter echoing like music through the air.

As for their extended family, Uncle John is a jovial chef with a passion for creating mouthwatering dishes in every shade of the rainbow. Aunt Sarah, his wife, is a wise librarian who treasures her collection of dusty old books, each containing stories of far-off lands and mystical creatures.

One sunny afternoon, the Miller family decided to have a picnic in the park. They spread out a checkered blanket on the lush green grass, surrounded by towering oak trees and chirping birds. Mr. Smith set up a geometric puzzle for Tom and Emily to solve, while Mrs. Smith sketched the scene with her colourful palette.
