One of the best ways to learn about a different culture is through dancing. Most cultures around the world have traditional dances, but you should definitely see these four dances!

Bhangra comes from the Punjab region of India, but it is popular across the world, especially in the US and the UK. People often dance bhangra at weddings and birthday parties but it's also a fantastic type of exercise and lots of people go to bhangra classes as a way of keeping fit.

Samba comes from Brazil and is an important part of Brazil's culture and history. Each year millions of people in bright, colourful clothes dance samba at Carnival, the famous festival in cities like Rio de Janeiro and São Paulo.

Belly dancing is a traditional type of Arabic dance from countries in the Middle East and north Africa. There are lots of different styles of belly dancing and dancers wear different clothes depending on which country they are from.

Flamenco is a world-famous dance that comes from Andalusia in the south of Spain. Flamenco dancers dance to guitar music and use a small musical instrument called castanets. Male dancers wear black trousers and jackets, but the female dancers wear long, colourful dresses or skirts and often wear flowers in their hair.
