

Grammar

Question tags

Asking questions to check information

1 Look at the chart.

Question tags with be
Affirmative statement + negative tag	Negative statement + affirmative tag
It's about my fears, isn't it?	It isn't predicting the future, is it?
My friends are laughing at me, aren't they?	There weren't any snakes in the dream, were there?

Take note!

I'm late, aren't I?

2 Match the sentences with the correct question tag.

- This dream isn't about my family, b
 - Flying is common in dreams, ____
 - Our dreams are like secret messages, ____
 - You weren't dreaming, ____
 - We're going to write about our dreams, ____
 - I'm going to have nightmares, ____
- a aren't they?
b is it?
c aren't I?
d isn't it?
e aren't we?
f were you?

3 Look at the chart.

Question tags with do
Affirmative statement + negative tag	Negative statement + affirmative tag
You sleepwalk , don't you?	We didn't eat anything, did we?
Most people have nightmares sometimes, don't they?	We don't have anywhere to go, do we?

4 Complete the sentences with question tags with do in the affirmative or negative.

- Most of us forget a lot of our dreams, don't we?
- Inventors sometimes get ideas from surprising places, _____?
- You didn't understand the dream, _____?
- A nightmare doesn't predict the future, _____?
- It takes imagination to write a good song, _____?
- We didn't have time for lunch, _____?

5 Write the correct question tags. Use be or do in the affirmative or negative.

- Yesterday* is a song by Paul McCartney, isn't it?
Yes, it is.
- Sleep walking isn't unusual for children, _____?
No, it isn't.
- Sewing machines weren't very popular when you were a child, _____?
Yes, they were. My mom had one.
- Coffee doesn't keep you awake at night, _____?
It can. Drinking coffee in the evening can keep you awake.
- The students didn't yawn during your class, _____?
No, they didn't.