Dear Saif,

How are you? I want to share my visit to the wonderful food festival that took place last February in Riyadh in Saudi Arabia. The event had people from 14 countries to celebrate their delicious food. I really enjoyed it.

The food festival was a display of more than 50 traditional dishes from different countries. The presentations and the taste were both perfect. There was something for everyone to try. I ate Bobotie from South Africa. It is a nice dish made of meat cooked with spices.

There were lots of people in the festival. I met Ali, who is from Egypt. He travelled 1496 kilometers to participate with a sweet cake called Basbousa. It was very tasty and I bought some pieces for my family.

Overall, the food festival was a successful event. It was seven days of excitement and happiness. This all what I have, what about you? Please send me some photos of your trip to London. I am very enthusiastic to see them.

Best wishes,

Rashid

You are going to hear a talk about Milk Sharks.

For each item, shade in the bubble ☐ next to the correct option.

Milk shark, also known as the bull shark, is a large fish found in warm water habitats around the world. They are called milk sharks because of their milky-white colour, which becomes darker as they grow older. They are known for their dangerous behavior to humans. They can grow up to 3 meters long and weigh over 200 kilograms. They have a flat head and a powerful jaw filled with sharp teeth.

They are eating a variety of food including fish, turtles and mainly seals. They are known to hunt in groups. Milk sharks are also known for the useful oil, which is used to make some medicine including vitamins A and D, as well as omega-3. They have been shown to improve skin health.

In conclusion, milk sharks are beautiful creatures that are essential for marine environment. They are an important part of the natural world that should be respected and protected.
