Scenario 2: Twelfth grader, Matt Darnell, enjoys his reputation for giving teachers a hard time. He loves to argue and can waste an entire hour arguing over a missed point on a test or a statement he thinks is incorrect.

Scenario 3: A principal was very disappointed to know that some of his students had painted graffiti on their rival school's wall. However, his faith in his students came back when a group of students arrived at his office and explained they would like to repaint the wall to make up for the bad behavior of some of their classmates.

Scenario 4: The students in Mr. Evan's class had enjoyed a presentation. When the speaker gathered up her materials and prepared to leave, Mr. Evans turned to some of his students and asked the boys to help take the material to the speaker's car. The boys quickly jumped to help the speaker.
