Dear Alya,

How are you? It's great here in New York! I love the school.

Let me tell you about my new friends. John and Stewart are two brothers from England. Stewart is a student at school from Monday to Friday, but on weekends, he works in a big café downtown. John is a student too. He goes to the beach on weekends. Their apartment is full of beautiful English clothes and shoes!

Hiroko is Japanese. He is from Osaka and he's a student. He's my classmate. In his free time, he likes baseball. He is Stewart's best friend. Sometimes we watch a game at the local field.

Michel is from France. He is the grandson of a famous French chef! Michel is at my school too, but he isn't in my class. He's my roommate. Our dinners are always delicious. My job is to do the dishes!

Our teacher is Omani but he lives in New York. He visits his family in Muscat in the summer. He has an Omani driver's license, so he never drives in the U.S.A.

Hope to see you again soon!

A day at the office with Jon

When I arrive at the office in the morning, my laptop, keyboard and a mouse are on my desk. It's near a big window. My keyboard is white, but my seven coworkers have blue ones. My screen is also white and all my pens and pencils are white too! We have a lot of space in the office and we do a lot of work on our laptops. Our chairs are all different colors. My chair is white, of course, but my coworkers have blue ones, green ones, yellow ones and red ones. The office is very colorful.

There are six outlets under every desk. I use three of them for my laptop, my big white screen and the printer, but I sometimes use the extra one to plug in my telephone.

There is a special calendar on every computer because we make a lot of plans for meetings. I do that on Mondays and Fridays. There is one meeting at 3 o'clock today and I need to prepare some important documents and files for that one. I usually take my laptop into every meeting. I never print any documents.

At lunchtime, I go to the big café across from the office with two of my coworkers and we use the free Wi-Fi to play games on our smartphones. We are always connected to Wi-Fi!
