On a cold dark night, Elissa was [0] _working / work_ late at the office. It was already midnight when she finally [1] started / finished her work.

As she was leaving her office, she realized the streets [2] was / were now empty. She was all alone. While she was [3] walking / working back home, she heard some footsteps behind her. She [4] turned / run around to look, but no one was there. So she [5] continued / stopped walking, but she could still hear footsteps behind her. Elissa was really scared now and she [6] wanted / started to run, but the footsteps behind her got louder and faster. Someone was chasing her.

As she was [7] crying / running, she [8] saw / watched a cemetery. She quickly [9] ran / jumped into the cemetery and hid there. When Elissa was hiding, the footsteps [10] came back / stopped. Maybe she lost it. Just then Elissa [11] remembered / forgot there was a 24-hour convenience store nearby – she could go there for help.

She quickly [12] saw / ran to the store. She [13] went / looked inside and begged the man for help: "Please help me! I was walking home and someone was [14] walking / following me. I can hear his footsteps!" But the man [15] said / told to her: "Lady, the footsteps are yours. The soles of your shoes came off!"
