5. Chose the correct answer to complete the text.

Being honest is certainly a quality that most people admire. However, in certain situations, you have to be careful just how honest you are. (1) _____ there is someone you work with that you really don't like, for whatever reason. If you (2) _____ them exactly what you really think of them, it's fairly safe to (3) _____ that your working relationship with them (4) _____ be far more difficult from then on. So telling the (5) _____ in this situation is probably best avoided.

Being too direct can also offend some people. For example, (6) _____ you disagree with someone in a meeting, it's probably best not to respond with a phrase such as, 'What a load of rubbish!'. Disagreement is usually received more kindly if it is (7) _____, rather than being directly stated.

Choosing and using the best possible (8) _____ of communication may be hard sometimes, but it will save you a lot of trouble if you do.
