Writing Ex. > FANBOYS II

FANBOYS stands for the coordinating conjunctions. These words, when used to connect two INDEPENDENT clauses (two COMPLETE thoughts), must be preceded by a comma (,).

A. Read the statements (1-7) and match them with their corresponding clause (A-G).

1. What sank the ship may remain a mystery, ____	A. so it was clearly destroyed long time ago.
2. He has found pieces of wood from the ship, ____	B. nor has the weather helped much.
3. He has had to grow up very quickly, ____	C. or another company will take the lead.
4. It is difficult to fit everything in, ____	D. but Ambrose has several ideas to reveal the truth.
5. The efforts haven't been successful, ____	E. for many challenges can come up.
6. He did not help him do research, ____	F. and I often get anxious about him travelling alone.
7. They may start a new research soon, ____	G. yet his experience and knowledge were significant.

B. Join both sentences using the FANBOYS on each line. Use each conjunction ONLY ONCE.

a. Joe usually goes to the park. He loves doing exercise in the open air.

Answer*: _____

b. Some parents allow their children to eat candies. They are not healthy.

Answer*: _____

c. I did exercise for six months. My health improved.

Answer*: _____

d. Studying and working can be exhausting. The results can be rewarding.

Answer*: _____

e. On weekends Ley and I usually eat out. We try new restaurants each time.

Answer*: _____

f. Andrew does not like mushrooms. He does not eat asparagus.

Answer*: _____

g. Students can buy the books online. They can ask for a paper copy in the library.

Answer*: _____

Authored by Andrés Barón Ávila
MA Education and Technology – UCL – IOE

LIVEWORKSHEETS