The perfect home

When Charlotte Tindle (1) was preparing / prepared to move to London to study music, her college (2) was suggesting / suggested renting student accommodation at a price of £1,000 per month. That's £36,000 for three years!

The Tindles (3) were making / made plans to pay for Charlotte's rent when Mr Tindle (4) was having / had an idea: why not spend the money on a houseboat. And so the family (5) were buying / bought one.

While they (6) were cleaning / cleaned and (7) repairing / repaired the boat, lots of Charlotte's friends (8) were offering / offered to help. Charlotte says that living in her unusual house is an adventure, but 'it is my home,' she says.

III. READING COMPREHENSION.

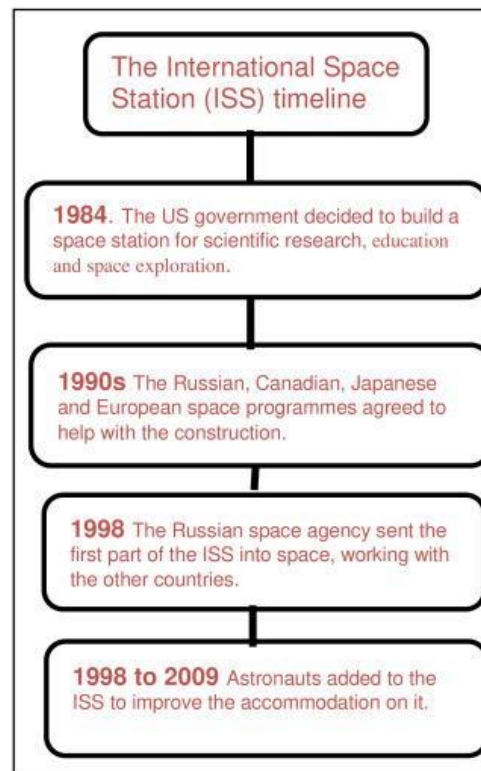

A) Read the article and timeline

"The size is similar to an old English telephone box," said Japanese engineer Koichi Wakata while he was giving a video tour of his bedroom in the International Space Station (ISS). 'It's a little taller than me. There's a sleeping bag here, which is very comfortable. It's fixed to the wall so I don't float away*.' Wakata, who lived on the ISS three different times, had two computers in his room: one for official ISS work and another computer for Internet access. He also had a camera and earphones for communication with his family and friends back home on Earth. His room also had a small lamp for reading in bed, but he didn't have a wardrobe for his clothes: he kept them in a small cupboard. And there simply wasn't space for a table or chair.

The ISS accommodation didn't offer Wakata many luxuries, but it provided a lot of the basic comforts of a normal home. He and the other astronauts ate packaged food in a small kitchen and dining area. It had a special type of oven for making their food hot, but no fridge. Wakata couldn't have a shower in the ISS, but Italian astronaut Samantha Cristoforetti, who spent 199 days on the space station, said that when she was living there, every astronaut had an area where they washed and cleaned their teeth. 'But we didn't have a sink,' she explained. When she was washing, she used a very small quantity of water from little containers and a special soap and shampoo.

As astronaut Scott Kelly tweeted, 'All the comforts of home. Well, most of them.'

B) Choose the correct option.

1. Koichi Wakata's bedroom / bed was the size of an old telephone box.
2. His bedroom had / didn't have a chair.
3. There wasn't water / a sink for washing.
4. Australia / Japan helped build the ISS.

IV. LISTENING COMPREHENSION.

A) Listen to the news report about living in Vienna, Austria. Choose the correct option.

1. Vienna is one of the world's best / most expensive cities.
2. He says that people in New York pay more / less to go out with friends.
3. She says that Vienna is very crowded / isn't too crowded.
4. She says the suburbs are / aren't boring.
