

Tell Me Everything You Know About Community Workers.

A large circle is centered on the page. Inside the circle, there is a smaller circle. Inside this smaller circle, there is a rectangular box with the text "Community Workers" and an illustration of a city skyline with three people in the foreground: a construction worker wearing a yellow hard hat, a woman with dark hair, and a nurse wearing a white cap. Surrounding this central hub are four empty rectangular boxes: one at the top, one on the left, one on the right, and one at the bottom, all intended for students to write their knowledge about community workers.
