

Future Tenses

Will, Going to or Present Continuous for Future?

1. Drag and drop each tense next to its use.

WILL

GOING TO

PRESENT CONTINUOUS FOR FUTURE

- a. Future arrangements.
- b. Predictions and spontaneous decisions.
- c. Plans.

2. Choose the right option to complete each sentence.

- a. I've talked to your teacher yesterday. We tomorrow at 5 o'clock p.m.
- b. Oh! What's that smoke? I _____ turn off the heater.
- c. My sister _____ a birthday party tomorrow at 8 p.m.
- d. _____ continue studying next year? What are your plans?
- e. There _____ any more buses in 2050. I think everyone a car.

3. Complete with the correct future tenses.

- a. I don't think I (participate) in the contest, but I'm not sure yet.
- b. I (visit) aunt Suzie next week. I have to call her in order to let her know.
- c. Why are you carrying so many boxes? I (help) you.
- d. My parents (travel) to Eastern Asia in August. The plane leaves on the 18th. They (not go) by train, though they could.
- e. -Mom, there isn't any more milk in the fridge.
-I know! I (buy) some in the afternoon.
- f. I (not stay) at my parents' house much longer. I'm planning to move out next year.